of ricksha owners which is worthy of attention in Hongkong, the conditions of ricksha traffic being much the same in both towns. The case decided, says the Singapore Proc Press, 'was as to the responsibility of an owner for damage done by a collision dis to the incompetence of the drawer of a richsha. Sir Edward O'Maliey depided on appeal that the owner was see responsible. as the law of England and the local Ordinances stand at present. The Commissioner of the Court of Requests, Mr Thornton, originally heard the case, and held that the owner was lable, one ground being that somebody must be held responsible when incompetent men go into the public streets with rickshas and endanger the public safety. On the authority of an English case the owner must be held liable. The Chief Justice discriminated this one from another and decided that the puller was in the position of a driver in England who hired a cab but not a horse, in which circumstances. no responsibility attached tothe owner of the cab In our case the horse and driver are combined; therefore the owner of the cab (rickella in this case) is not liable for the vagaries of the horse. driver. THE much-needed new police station at Aberdeen, the work of erecting which has been carried on in a spasmodic way during the last three or four years, is now octually approaching completion. Two months more, it is hoped, will see the structure linished.

Le Progrès de Saigon says that the Arethuse has again made the passage from Tourane to Saigon burning Tourane coal alone; and that the Messageries boats fill up their bunkers, with the coal every time they touch at Tourane.

From the telegrams published in the Chiness Muil to day we learn that Cheng Yen Hoon, ex-minister to the United States, has been appointed Acting Vice-President of the Board of Riter, -which is looked upon as rapid promotion.

We learn from the same source that Prince Ching, chief of the Tsungli Yamen, has been made Acting Chief of the Admiralty Board ; with General Ting An (a Manchu) and Lite Kun Yi (Viceroy of Nanking) as Vice-Presidents. These appointments possess more than usual importance at the present crisis.

Tus hum of the steam-engine and machinery will soon be heard in Aberdeen. The Chinese paper-making company are pushing on their building operations, and the works will be finished in about three months. A supply of water for the works is now being taken into the village from a reservoir on the hillside which has been specially constructed by the company. There are four Europeans engaged, including Mr Bailey, the manager, all of whom have arrived, and the works will give employment to about a hundred Chinese.

THE ships shooting troubles appear to have begun already, and it is to be feared that the apparently unsophisticated Chinese villager in those parts of the mainland where snipe and sportamen most do congregate is becoming quite an adopt in the art of squeezing. It has been often said that the villagers carefully put themselves in the way of getting a pellet from a sports. than's gus, and 'people who know' aver that this has become a regular profession amongst them. He had recently visited the while the hicyclists went at full speed all hospitals of Hongkong and Canton, and the way gave a picturesque account of the public halls in which the Chinese physicians assembled for consultation, their splendour being curiously at variance with the barbarous simplicity of the hospital appliances. Chinese medicine had resisted all the inroads of modern science, and was still a superstition rather than an art. A great English establishment was now the most trusted dispensary of Chinese medicines, and it had scores of branches throughout the Calestial Empire. They issued willions of popular .
